Movian since the release of Oceanus has changed very much, with it several things that Oceanus relied upon have changed and updating it requires too much work, especially when considering that the UI of Oceanus is somewhat outdated.

I believe it is better for your plugin to use the views that come built in Movian and let the user change the view as he/she likes (e.g. installing a skin plugin) which is what happens for instance with Youtube plugin, that way the plugin will be more resilient to future Movian changes.
