Description

While playing a video on a PS3 the O button instantly kills the video playback and the current play time isn't saved, so when trying to replay the video it starts from the beginning.

Could there be prompted a question whether the user wanted to really stop the playback and/or the current time be saved (at least for the last played file).

Current time is saved in 3.3.something (cant remember exact version) so that is either a bug or you are using an older version.
